(7) Any instructions, directions, or guidance provided by the institution to students concerning the Emergency Financial Aid Grants.

Students who are or were enrolled in an institution of higher education during the COVID-19 national emergency are eligible for emergency financial aid grants from the HEERF, regardless of whether they completed a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or are eligible for Title IV. This act requires that institutions prioritize students with exceptional financial need, and therefore, students will need to request and then apply for funding. Submitting a request for funds does not guarantee that a student will receive a grant.

Under U.S. Department of Education guidelines for the program, students may use these funds to help with expenses that were incurred in relation to the disruption of campus operations due to the Coronavirus, such as tuition, food, housing, course materials, health care (including mental health care), childcare, and technology-related expenses.

To apply for funding, you will first need to fill out and electronically sign the official request form (CRRSAA - HEERF II Student Grant Request Form) through PandaDoc. This will be sent in the next few days, so keep an eye on your inbox. Please completely fill out, sign, and date the PandaDoc form by Tuesday, May 25, end of day. Students facing exceptional financial struggles in need of additional funding will need to apply by contacting their Financial Aid Advisor for the application.

You also have the option to opt-out of your portion of the grant. If you choose to do so, your funds will be distributed to students who have experienced major financial disruptions due to Coronavirus.
